

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

If the U.S. is to remain a democracy, it is vital that full and free discourse be encouraged. This very discourse is being stifled and will surely die if the media ownership rules are further loosened.